THE office of the Standard at Celina was entirely consumed by fire last week. The loss was $9,000, with an insurance of less than one-third the loss. It was a severe loss to Bro. Snyder, but his friends came to the rescue and the old Standard was issued as usual, as it has been for the past 42 years.

HAMMONDSVILLE claims the oldest postmaster in Ohio. W. H. Wallace, who has been handling the mails there for sixty-four years, has served under thirty postmaster generals. BRO, RUSSELL of the Signal filled the office of county auditor for three rears, yet he failed to do the very thing which he is now accusing his successor of not doing-i, e. witholdroad improvements. The same thing, why did he not have the amounts certified back into the proper or treasuries? Echo answers, why? Bro. Russell is making frantic efforts to prejudice the people against the present county auditor and board of county commissioners, irregardless of truth and good common sense, but so far little attention is given him, which fact hurts and he is simply losing his head. He is aware that the Commissioners and Auditor are trying hard to right, and are righting, many of his mistakes, shortcomings and irregularities while he filled the auditor, and they are not to be diverted by the windy rantingsof Bro. Russell.

Since the Republican congression that not one worthy soldier would be robbed of his pension by a Democrat.

There is no room for doubt that the President is the most popular man in the country to-day. The politicians in the country to-day. A gentleman who claims to have known the kind of weed referred to by the NORTHWEST as a Russian thistle, for many years, declares it is not the Russian thistle at all. He says that the same weed has been in Henry county for years and that the publi-cation that we have the Russian thistle, besides unnecessarily alarming our citizens, will likely prove a great damage to our county unless its influ-ence can be counteracted by giving the real truth to the public.—Signal.

There, there, Bro., keep your shirt on; the NORTHWEST scooped you on the thistle business, and that's what worries you. But the gentleman referred to by the Signal don't know what he is talking about when he says the Russian thistle is not here in all its glory. It is here, and has been here for a long time, but the time has come to eradicate it, even if the citizens have to be "alarmed." To alleviate this "alarm" the Signal might have given the "truth" had it known other than what the NORTH-WEST had given on the subject. But it did not know and it simply played the hypocrite. To give our readers an idea what the Russian thistle is we will try and describe it. It is sometimes called the prickly lettuce, in fact it has a half-dozen names. It looks like a stock of domestic lettuce that has gone to seed, and the leaves have saw-toothed edges, which, when broken off, bleed a milk-colored fluid exactly like milk weed. On the top is a bunch of seeds which, when ripe, take on a fuzzy growth, like the seed of the Canadian thistle, only much smaller and these blow about to propagate more dominion. The seed is blown up in the air and carried along great distances. It flowers in July and produces a multitude of seeds, and in a very short time it will if taken in time, but its producing quality and spreading nature are its worst features. There is no need of being "alarmed" over the weed, but wherever it is seen, destroy it. Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder World's Fair Highest Medal and Dip

It will be seen that the cost of when the total cost of transportation of a bushel of wheat to Europe was 30 cents and over. Now it is reduced to a fraction over 11 cents. It is clear there is no exorbitant profit to any ody between Duluth and Liverpool. But is there any excessive profit between the farmer and Duluth? Is the producer getting all that he should receive, after all reasonable expenses are paid between himself and the European market? Unless the buyers from the farmer are getting too large a profit, the situation is one that can not mend until the world produces less as compared with demand, than it is doing to-day.

Where are the Pension Liars.

How are the pension liars now. One year ago one William McKinley was howling on every available stump in Ohio that that awful rebel, Hoke Smith, was going to take away all the soldiers' pensions. And this howling was general, by all the big and little howlers, and all the lying Republican newspapers. Now what does the recing money from the townships on old ord show?
